

We've got an "arms race" in America between the responsible citizens who drive small, fuel efficient autos and the individuals lugging around in oversized SUVs claiming a natural-born right to big steel and cheap fuel. Big SUVs make environmentally and fiscally responsible autos less safe. Anything my government can do to stem this tide and decrease my country's dependance on foreign oil is appreciated.